CITY OF LANCASTER: THURSDAY, AUG. 1, 1861

Blanket Blanket Blanket! For sale at this office, Blank Books—of every variety, the latest form, printed on a superior quality of paper.

We Are in Need of Money. We have a payment to make on our office on the first of August. There is $2,000 due us on our books. Will those of our friends whom we have indulged and who know themselves to be indebted come to our relief? Editors, like other men, must live, and there is no living in these times without money.

An interesting letter from our war correspondent, HARRY COMER, will be found in another column.

Capt. E. T. Hooker's Company for the three years service is full, and will leave for Columbus to-day.

17th Regiment.—We invite special attention to the letter published on our first page, from Capt. J. W. Stracomb. It will be found very interesting, containing as it does, a history of their route up to the time it was written.

In Town.—We notice just before going to press, that H. Scott, jr., Isaac Butterfield and William Richards, from Capt. Stafford's company, have arrived, looking very well. It is uncertain what day the company will get here, probably not before next week—possibly on Saturday.

Basin House.—We are glad to notice that J. McCalla Esq., has recently taken possession of and fitted up the above house in good style, for the accommodation of the travelling public. Jim ranks A No. 1 in the list of landlords.

Brev. Lieut. BURNETT, Company A, Capt. Stafford's, 1st Regiment, O. V. M., was in our city yesterday. Lieut. Butterfield looks well, and gives a good account of himself and Company. He returned to Columbus this morning, where he will remain with the Company until paid off and mustered out of the service.

L. O. Davis has just finished for us a splendid set of harness. For neatness, durability and cheapness, they cannot be beaten in Southern Ohio. If our readers want good harness, let them call on Jack. If they want old harness well and speedily mended, call on Jack. If they want lines, collars, saddles, whips, &c., &c., call on Jack, in Martin's Row, back of the city Hall.

WHEELER & Wilson's Sewing Machines.—This Machine is now acknowledged, by competent judges, to be the best in use. We dropped in a few days since at Ed Billingshurst's, and saw one in operation. It tells, gathers, hems, ticks, quilts, and does any other kind of sewing, and in our judgment the work for neatness and stability, cannot be excelled. We commend it to the ladies, and our word for it, any person purchasing this machine at its present low price, cannot fail to be satisfied. Mr. Billingshurst is the only agent in the county.

LUMAN H. OLDS and JAMES LYONS, under the firm of OLDS & LYONS, have become agents for Dr. J. TAYLOR'S Nursery, Newport, Ky. They will receive orders at the store room of Lyons & Son, for all kinds of Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Garden Fruits, Shrubs, &c.—This Nursery covers about 300 acres of ground, and it is said its fruits have no equal, either in size or quality. We take great pleasure in recommending the agents, knowing them to be honest, clever gentlemen.

JIMMY will offer for sale at his store room on Saturday next, a lot of green corn and peaches, fresh from Cincinnati. Those who are fond of luxuries would do well to call.

The 1st and 2nd Regiments Ohio volunteers are now in Columbus being paid off and honorably mustered out of the service.

They have seen hard times and rendered the country valuable service. They were among the first troops to offer themselves to the Government—among the earliest to answer the call of President Lincoln.

During the greater part of their term they were occupying important, dangerous and advanced positions. They discharged all their duties with courage and fidelity—with great credit to themselves and honor to the State and Union. On the 17th, the very day their term of service expired, they cheerfully and gallantly volunteered to go with the army to Manassas, and during the whole of that fatal conflict were on duty. They were the first on the field and the last to leave it, and when our gallant army had been overpowered and routed the Ohio boys covered the retreat and saved it from final disaster.

Foremost in the first Regiment were our brave boys, Company A, Captain Stafford. "All honor to them," the 1st Company in Ohio to tender their services. They behaved themselves gallantly and came off of a conquered field with glory.

The last Eagle came down beautifully, gracefully and greatly. We hope no feathers were soiled or bones broken in the descent.

A special dispatch says that Capt. Tompkins, of the U. S. Cavalry, captured 29 rebels back of Fort Corcoran on the 29th ult.

The Democratic County Convention meets in this city on Saturday next. They may adopt resolutions endorsing the Eagle and opposing the war but we hardly think they will. There is not back bone enough in the Tories to stand up to the rock.

There is a "small, eight-by-ten, cross-roads lawyer," called JEFFRIES, (Judas Cataline Jeffries) now canvassing this county for the Legislature. What said Jeffries ever does for himself or country, to entitle him to the position sought, or what right he has above other men, is not known, unless it be his zeal, one consistent, persistent and everlasting office seeking propensities. Said Jeffries is now engaged in publicly and privately denouncing the Government.

In the days of the Revolution, when our fathers were fleeing before the huffings of Britain, when their homes were being burnt, their hearts-stones decimated, their wives insulted & their babes murdered; when barefooted and bleeding they were struggling for the liberties we now enjoy, there were demons among them who rejoiced. So to-day while our sons and our brothers are struggling to perpetuate those liberties, and falling in the struggle, by the hand of treason, there are miscreants and traitors at home who rejoice in their falling, and whose prayers go up for their continued defeat.

When the news of our overthrow at Manassas was crushing the spirit of the loyal, traitors at home were made joyous and openly gloated in our defeat.

THEY DARE NOT DO IT. The Tenth Rainey Cliques of the Democratic party affect to believe that "the present war is unholy, unjust, and damnable." That "it was commenced by the Government." That its purpose is the "abolition of Slavery," and that "it must end in the overthrow of the Union."

If the Democracy of this county are honest in their professions, if the war is to prove so disastrous, they will prove recreant to their honor, their interests, and the interests of humanity, if they do not take strong grounds against it in their County Convention, and yet they will not dare do so. They know the charges they have made are false and they dare not commit themselves on the record.

Gentlemen Democrats, you have your County Convention on Saturday. Show your hands.

From Columbus, COLUMBUS, July 29.

A special dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette of Tuesday says:

The First and Second Ohio Regiments arrived here about two o'clock this afternoon. They were received at the depot by the volunteer companies of Columbus, commanded by Capt. Jas. Riley, and by a large concourse of citizens, who welcomed them with vigorous cheers.

They were provided with a luncheon by order of Commissary Delano, and after they had done justice to it, were escorted to the State House yard. The entire route was thronged with citizens. The ladies waved their handkerchiefs from the windows, flags floated on the housetops, and there was a patriotic time generally.

Arrived at the State House, the regiments were reviewed by the Governor and Staff, and welcomed without formality, when they were dismissed until 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, at which time they will be marched to Camp Chase, where they will be encamped till mustered out of service.

To-night the citizens and soldiers of Columbus give the Fenobles and Videttes of this city, belonging to the Second Regiment, a welcome supper, prepared by the Columbus ladies. Fireworks, things good to eat, drink etc., will be in order.

The boys look now somewhat, but are generally in excellent spirits. Squads of them are all over town telling stories of the camp and the field, which were listened to with manifest interest.

It will probably be five or six days before all the companies will be mustered out, paid off, and allowed to return home.

The Rover Guards, left behind at Pittsburgh, arrived here at half-past eight to-night. They were supported and then encamped in the State House yard.

FROM THE REBEL CAMP. Washington, July 29.—Capt. Allen of Massachusetts, and two other Federal soldiers, have just arrived from Centerville. One was a member of the 71st New York, and the other Orlando Waldrop, of Wisconsin 2d regiment. They were prisoners at Sadley Church, but escaped.

Capt. Allen says the rebels admitted a loss of 1,500 killed in the battle of Sunday. The rebels have 600 of our men prisoners, but they are well treated.

The rebels refuse to bury the bodies of Zouaves, and any one with red shirts or pants of Zouave cut, face badly at their hands.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS. Washington, July 29.—The Post office Department has issued the following: "Postmasters will take notice, that all prepaid letters to soldiers in any regiment in the service, and directed to them at points where they have been stationed, may be forwarded, whenever practicable, to any other point to which they may have been ordered, without further charge thereon for forwarding."

For the Lancaster Gazette. Our Army Correspondence. Washington City, July 24, '61. Messrs. Editors.—Since writing to you last, stirring scenes and startling events have transpired. Leaving Camp Union at 2 P. M., of Friday July 15th, with bright hopes of a speedy reunion with friends and relatives, we joined regiment after regiment, brigade after brigade, division after division, until the Grand Army of Occupation, filed in ranks of four, numbering 50,000 men, were marching toward Manassas Junction, the bands playing national airs, banners floating in the breeze, voices singing Union anthems, and myriad bayonets gleaming in the sun.

High and sanguine hopes were entertained that the horde of political blacklegs, bankrupt politicians, refugees from foreign climes, and crimes, murderers, thieves pick-pockets and assassins who composed the Southern rebel army would be most effectually wiped out and the Stars and Stripes float in glory and beauty o'er Vienna Station, Germantown, Fairfax Court House, Manassas Gap and Junction, and at last have a crowning glory by waving in majesty and beauty on the Capitol at Richmond. The station at Vienna was taken possession of, our National emblem placed on the track where one month before the Ohio 1st was fired into by a masked battery of the enemy. Germantown, Fairfax and Centreville fell before the stern front and steady march of the army of freedom, until we brought up at the Northern Fork of Bull's Run, July 20th. Here a masked battery within an entrenchment was stormed, but with ill success, and both sides got off with considerable loss. Sunday morning, dark and early, 2 o'clock, our column, under command of Gen. McDowell, marched to the scene of conflict; Sobush's Brigade, composed of the 1st and 2d Ohio and 2d New York, was given the post of honor and were thrown out as advance skirmishers in order to detect and draw forth the enemy's fire of the masked batteries. The enemy lay strongly entrenched in unseen trenches, under cover of the woods and in the long grass. The 1st Ohio made the opening charge of musketry, the 2d New York followed at a double quick, which brought forth the enemy's fire and a regiment of riflemen who were finely repelled by the 2d Ohio. Our Brigade loss was comparatively small, considering the dangerous position assigned us, and as you have heard by the newspapers, telegraphic reports and rumors probably more than I know of the details, I leave the matter to the official report of our very worthy and efficient Brigadier, who has, after considerable lapse of time, and by keeping the boys over their time, avenged the slaughter of Vienna and gained a reputation for Ohio!

The battle of Bloody Run will never be effaced from the O. V. M.'s memory; the mounds of dead and dying, the heroic charges, the rivers of blood, the death-cries of comrades, the ghastly visage, the faintly articulated cry for water, the booming bursting, the cannon's flash, the impetuous rush, the Grecian stolidity, the Roman courage, the army of enthusiastic, impetuous, devoted and courageous soldiers who rushed into the jaws of death and charged into the cannon's mouth, will live vividly in their memories long after the rebels who caused the disaster and death, have expiated their crimes by an ignominious death on earth, and a torturing life among the spirits of the damned.

The precipitate retreat, the hurried flight from the field of action, was owing to a misconstrued order, and it is estimated that 15,000 U. S. Troops were in close proximity who were not in the engagement at all. Up to 3 P. M. the battle was ours, when Johnston's rebel reinforcements turned the tide and compelled a retreat, which, although not compulsory, was a necessity. We were ordered to retreat which we lost no time in doing and starting at double quick, came a distance of over 30 miles, our muskets, canteens, blankets, haversacks, cartridge boxes, etc., still a component part of our baggage. At Fort Corcoran, Arlington Heights, we were kept in a drenching rain for six mortal hours, while fragment after fragment moved past us to shelter, food and repose. We are now here in Washington City, barracked at Union Block, corner of 6th and Pennsylvania Avenues, while your correspondent has taken rooms at the Avenue House, doffed his soldier clothes, donned clean togery, and imagines himself once more a citizen!

This order has been given to march to camp at 10 o'clock to-day, at the end of 7th st., to attend to roll call, see who are killed, wounded and missing, and to make arrangements for getting home as soon as troops now in waiting for orders are marched to this city to fill our places.

L. M. Dayton and Myron H. Gregory are here, together with Gen. W. T. Sherman of our city, who was commandant of a brigade. Company A has lost none of its members, with, possibly, the exception of Wm. Swygert, who was substituted in place of Kitty Linn as Pioneer.—He has not yet reported himself at head quarters. Yours, as ever, HARRY COMER.

SOUTHERN NEWS. Louisville, July 30.—The Richmond Bank Convention adjourned, after advising the Confederate Government to issue $100,000,000 in Treasury notes.

Tombs has resigned the State Secretaryship of the Confederate States. Hunter of Virginia succeeds him.

The Government gunboats here cross-Portland Bay to New Albany, yesterday, where they will be equipped.

THE MISSOURI CONVENTION. JEFFERSON CITY, July 29.—The report of the State Treasury, in accordance with instructions of the Convention was made this morning. The amount of money in the Treasury on the 24th of July was a little over $67,000. The disbursements since the adjournment of the last session of the Legislature have been over $700,000. Mr. Birch offered a resolution declaring that there was no excuse either in the present or future condition of the State for the default of the payment of the interest on the State debt, and that it is pre-eminently her duty to pay it.

After a lively discussion and several substitutes offered, the matter was referred to a committee of five. The report of the committee of eight was submitted, and by resolution, taken up clause by clause. The first clause declaring the officers of Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the State, and Legislature, was debated all the afternoon, but without coming to any vote. It will be carried to-morrow by a decisive majority.

Important Dispersion of the Rebels and Capture of Contraband. FORTY-THREE TRACT CO. MO. July 23.—Gen. Sweeney's command, which left Springfield on Saturday last, arrived here to-day and dispersed a band of 150 rebels stationed here, and took possession of the town. Five of the rebels were killed and several wounded. Three of our men were slightly wounded, but none killed.

The first and second stories of the Courthouse here were filled with blankets provisions, camp equipage, &c., which together with two tons of lead found in a well, and other articles secreted in different parts of the town, in all valued at between $18,000 and $20,000, fell into our hands. Mr. Wilkey, correspondent of the New York Times, was slightly wounded.

Daring and Fortitude of Wounded Officers. Thurlow Weed writes from Washington: Captain Putnam of a Minnesota regiment, with a ball through his arm, kept the field all day, and then brought his men back in order, marching himself nearly thirty miles! I also visited Col. Hientzelman, who, leading a division, received a Minie rifle ball in his sword arm. It was extracted by the Surgeon during the battle, while the Colonel was in his saddle at the head of his column. The wound was bandaged, and the Colonel kept in his saddle (the last to leave the field) for twenty hours.

Guernsey's Balm. Lines on the Death of Hannah E. Hancock. BY JAMES B. HANCOCK.

Hannah dear, oh! where art thou, Thou dear, and lovely one; Thou wast the treasure of my heart, But alas! I am undone.

Thou hast gone and left us here, In this dark world of woe; Oh! that death would soon draw near, Blame me not, for I lov'd her so.

I lov'd her then, I love her yet, Because she's gone, I love her more; Oh! that I never shall forget, The angelic smile she wore.

I miss thee, Hannah, in my walks, I miss thee in our social talks; I miss thee in pleasure, and in pain, But live in hopes we'll meet again.

Dear wife, 'twas hard for me to part, From one I lov'd with all my heart; To know that she, in the tomb doth lay, Her body mouldering into clay.

Thy body lies beneath the sod, Thy soul, ascended to his God; It there will stay, whilst ages flee, And, be happy in eternity.

MARRIED. On the 24th inst., at the house of Mr. James Almada Outcalt by Rev. Vogh, Mr. James J. Strawn and Miss Mollie E. Pugh, of Baltimore Ohio. As de hearts of these loving and lov'd ones are one, and may they in Union of love still repose, Till they be back in the light of a never setting sun.

OBITUARY. DIED.—In Lithopolis, July 15th, 1861, FRANK LUDWIG, youngest son of William and Rosanna Stallsmith, aged three years and four months days. 'Tis tender bud, So young and fair, Called hence by early doom, Just came to show how sweet the flower, In paradise could bloom.
